Challenges

Most of the courses offered which are traditionally considered male-preferred courses. Although, this trend is changing with more and more numbers of female students choosing such streams, there is still need for encouraging female students to opt for such career choices. The people involved and influencing the career options of students play a vital role in affecting the number of female students opting for non-traditional courses. Such influencers also require adequate information and motivation in order to drive the female students towards no stereotypical career paths.
